ORDINANCE - Targeted Residential Picketing

Suggested Action:

Enacting Section 9-2-15 of the City of Orem Code related to Targeted Residential Picketing

Presenter:

Steve Earl

Background:

The City has recently seen groups of individuals gathering to picket and protest outside the homes of certain government officials. There have also been calls to stage even larger-scale protests and picketing in front of the homes of specific government officials with estimates of several hundred protesters expected to participate. This "targeted residential picketing" can be intimidating and threatening to the individuals who are the focus of the protests and is a serious disruption to the feeling of peace and safety that every resident is entitled to enjoy in their home.

In order to protect individuals who are or may in the future be the focus of targeted residential picketing, staff proposes the adoption of a targeted residential picketing ordinance. The proposed ordinance would make it unlawful to engage in picketing that is specifically directed at a particular residence or the occupant(s) of that residence. The U.S. Supreme Court has held that targeted residential picketing ordinances are legal and do not violate the First Amendment. Individuals would still be able to exercise their First Amendment right to protest as long as they do not focus or direct their picketing toward a specific residence in violation of the ordinance
