Here we are at the new four-year anniversary of the General Election. It's the time to elect the next leader of our country, which also dovetails with the local time to elect members to serve on the City Council.

Many issues are on the federal ballot that actually parallel the issues facing our local elections:

- housing density
- affordable living and inflation
- infrastructure challenges
- education and so on.

The most important issue is identifying and voting for the candidate who most closely fits the paradigm for being the best, most effective leader - be they male or female or other.

I've pored through a number of sites that enumerate the 4 most essential, the 22 signs of, the 12 traits of, the 6 qualities of an effective, good, essential needs of a great leader. There are several characteristics that appear in all of the lists and one characteristic that is definitely essential but (maybe taken for granted) is not enumerated.

Consistently appearing in the lists are:

- good communication skills, i.e., listening and speaking
- respectful
- integrity
- vision
- accountability
- self awareness
- own failure and learn from it

What's missing?
* Showing respect
* The needs and welfare of their constituency is one of their highest priorities.

November 5 is Election Day.
Please make certain you're registered and definitely cast your vote for the best qualified candidate.

To South Pasadena Mayor Evelyn G. Zneimer, Mayor Pro Tem Jack Donovan, Councilmember Jon Primuth, Councilmember, Michael Cacciotti, and Councilmember Janet Braun

Please approve the July 2024 credit card expense summary. A reminder the city hall infrastructure construction for South Pasadena Police Departments charging stations should be getting underway on April 15, 2024 and finish in estimate time of 8 weeks. 8 weeks would be the end of July. So approving all credit card expense summaries are important. In addition, the police vehicle shortage has gotten so bad that Anaheim Police Department had to purchase 6 Tesla Model Y vehicles because there was no police vehicles available to purchase so Anaheim Police Department went with Tesla Model Y for patrol work.

WEEK WITHOUT DRIVING

Monday, September 30, 2024 – Sunday, October 6, 2024

#WeekWithoutDriving

HISTORY

In 2021, Disability Rights Washington launched #WeekWithoutDriving to challenge our leaders to better understand the barriers nondrivers experience in accessing our communities. After two successful years in Washington State, in 2023 the challenge went national in partnership with America Walks.

GOAL

The Week Without Driving challenge aims to draw attention to the difficulties faced by nondrivers in accessing our communities across the country and to inspire decision makers to address the barriers and gaps in our transportation system.

PARTICIPATION

You can get around however you want, but the challenge is not to drive yourself. This isn't a disability simulation or a test of how easily you can find alternatives. Having to drive during the challenge does not signify failure. The point is to consider how someone without the option to drive have coped, and what choices they might have made.

Anyone can participate in the Week Without Driving – whether you want to participate as an individual, organize your coworkers, or sign up as an elected leader or an advocacy organization.

2023 WEEK WITHOUT DRIVING HIGHLIGHTS

Advocacy Organizations
142 local organizations across 41 states and Washington D.C. and 19 national organizations organized

Elected and Public Officials
Over 369 elected and public officials from 39 states and Washington D.C. participated

Advocates and Individuals
Over 499 advocates and individuals from 41 states and Washington D.C. partook

Social media and publications
1,999+ social media posts, 569,999+ accounts reached, 12 national articles, and 99+ local publications

"Traveling to Southeast DC required multiple connections across various modes and still took an hour. While that's easy enough to handle for a one-off occasion, that's not ideal for an everyday commute within the city. I'm leaving the challenge with an even deeper appreciation for the transit options available to me, and a renewed sense of commitment to expanding District residents' access to transit."

Charles Allen
Washington D.C. Councilmember

"Imagine what our transportation would look like if it were planned first around pedestrians and non-vehicular traffic, and vehicles second. We'd be healthier, more social, errands would be more convenient, and we'd have less landscapes of parking lots and air pollution!"
